

Pets and Animals

This is better. You get to talk about cute animals. Useful for talking about your pets, and if someone tries to serve you "tortue" for dinner, you'll know they're up to no good.

Learn the pets — Les animaux domestiques

You should know the names of all these animals.

I have a dog — J'ai un chien

You need to understand people talking about their pets, and talk about yours if you have one. I've used "chien" as an example — swap in the animal word for the pet you want to talk about.

1) J'ai un chien. I have a dog.

It's "un" and "mon" for "le" animals, but "une" and "ma" for "la" ones, e.g. "une souris".

2) Mon chien s'appelle "Fido".

My dog is called Fido.

3) Je n'ai pas d'animaux domestiques.

I don't have a pet.

4) Mon chien est

My dog is

mignon(ne) sweet méchant(e) nasty grand(e) big noir(e) black

Learn all these animals, then give yourself a pet on the back...

If you're an only pet you don't have any pets, you could just pretend you do. Or if your pet isn't here (e.g. I've got a pet hippo), pick an easy one instead, or look yours up in a dictionary and learn it.
