Your Family

No, it can't all be about you - you have to talk about other people a bit too. Like your family.

Use these words for your friends and family

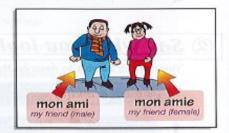

You can choose your friends, but you can't choose your family... Or something.

Say what your family and friends are like

I've written these out twice so you can see the bits that change depending who you're talking about — a lad or a lass. Swap frère and sœur for any family member you want (obviously enough).

PHRASES ABOUT LADS

j'ai un frère I have a brother

mon frère s'appelle Dave

If you're an i'ai un

"Je suis file/file unique"

= I am an only child.

(It's "file" for males.

"fille" for females.)

PHRASES ABOUT LASSES

j'ai une sœur I have a sister

ma sœur s'appelle Liz

my sister is called Liz

il a quinze ans he's fifteen years old elle a quinze ans she's fifteen years old

il est sympa he's nice

elle est sympa she's nice

I've think I've seen this page before — it looks family-er...

Mon amie — you'd expect "my female friend" to be "ma amie", but that's too hard to say. It's like how you say "an orange" in English, not "a orange". See p.61 for more on mon/ma/mes.

Your Family

Write down the French for each of these family members.

(a) my sister
(b) my father
(c) my grandfather
(d) my mother
(e) my brother
(f) my grandmother
(g) my aunt
(h) my uncle

James has written a letter to his French penfriend describing his family.

Read the letter, then fill in the right people's names in the gaps in the family tree.

J'ai une grande famille! J'habite avec ma mère, qui s'appelle Judith, et mon beau-père, qui s'appelle John. Mon père s'appelle Graham. Il habite avec ma belle-mère, qui s'appelle Linda. J'ai un frère et une sœur. Mon frère s'appelle Simon et ma sœur s'appelle Laura. J'ai aussi une demi-sœur, qui s'appelle Jenny, et un demi-frère, qui s'appelle Neil. Jenny et Neil habitent avec mon père et ma belle-mère. J'espère recevoir bientôt de tes nouvelles.

Amitiés.
